CEO comment

We are now approaching the next milestone on PledOx® way towards market registration. A meeting with the FDA is planned to take place during the fall. Along with US and Swedish registration experts, we are now working intensively with preparations for this important meeting. We have completed an interim report for the PLIANT-study and have developed a preliminary plan for the future development. FDA's comments and guidance at the forthcoming so-called End of Phase II/Pre Phase III-meeting will be important for the final design of the Phase III program. This is in turn an important basis of the negotiations with potential partners.

Interest for a drug that can help prevent the potentially debilitating neuropathic side effects of chemotherapy is great. It was obvious when we in June presented our clinical data at the scientific congress MASCC (Multinational Association of Supportive Care in Cancer) in Copenhagen. PledOx® has demonstrated a clinically relevant and statistically significant preventive effect against chemotherapy caused nerve damage in the treatment of colorectal cancer. Symptoms occur later and disappear faster after pretreatment with PledOx®. The hope now is to, as quickly as possible, make it available for patients worldwide to avoid the appearance of injuries that often can be irreversible and cause problems with pain and fine motor skills throughout life. At the same time an efficient prophylaxis against nerve damage could mean that cancer patients are less likely to have to cancel or reduce the dose - and thus the effect- of their chemotherapy.

We are engaged in a well-structured process for finding the ideal partner for the continued development and launch of PledOx®. During the year, we have deepened our analyzes of the market and its players, strengthened our team by additional internationally experienced business developers and continued the updating of a group of interested pharmaceutical companies on our progress. However, we have deliberately chosen to forego detailed discussions pending the outcome of the PLIANT study and the upcoming meeting with the FDA. The more well-founded information we have about the effect of PledOx® and the design of the Phase III program when we intensify the business discussions, the stronger our bargaining position will be.

Furthermore, we continue preparations to start the Aladote study during in 2016.

Jacques Näsström CEO, PledPharma AB (publ)

Vision

PledPharma will be a leading pharmaceutical company, which develops unique therapies with breakthrough therapy potential for life-threatening diseases.

Business idea, goals and strategy

PledPharma develops therapeutics to improve the treatment of life-threatening diseases based on the company's patented and clinically proven technology, PLED. The primary goal is a successful transction of the PledOx project with attractive commercial revenues and to develop Aladote™ to commercialization together with a partner. PledPharma conducts a partner-based development model focusing on taking project through phase IIb, whereafter the costly Phase III clinical trials and global marketing are sold, whereby the financial exposure is reduced. The typical compensation is anticipated to be received in the form of signing fees, milestone payments and royalties.

Patents and trademarks

PledPharma has four in-licensed patents covering therapeutic use of PLED therapeutics. In addition, PledPharma has four applications for a large number of countries aiming to get an exclusive market protection and broad commercial rights for the manufacture and use of PLED therapeutics. The first is so far approved in the US, China, Hong Kong, Russia, Australia and Japan with patent protection until 2028. The second was approved in 2013 in South Africa as the first country with patent protection until 2030.

PledPharma has trademark protection for PledOx® in the key markets and has recently been granted trademark protection for Aladote™ in the EU.

Our projects

PledPharma develops therapeutcs based on PLED therapeutics and currently has three projects in or about to enter the clinical phase.

PledOx® (colorectal cancer)

PledOx® (calmangafodipir) is tested in an international phase IIb study in patients with colorectal cancer treated with the chemotherapy combination FOLFOX. The study goes according to plan and the first top-line results were presented at the end of the first quarter of 2015.

Aladote™ (hepatic/ALF)

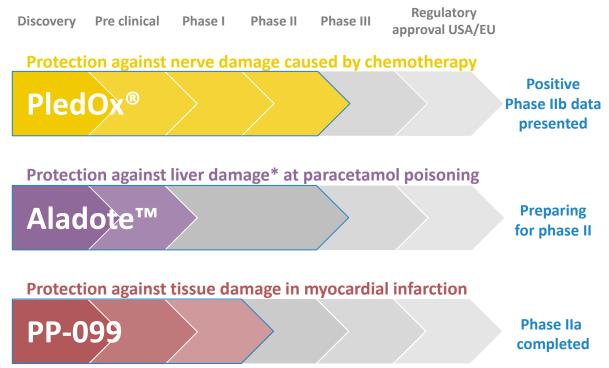

Aladote[™] is a new formulation based on calmangafodipir evaluated and tested pre-clinically with promising results. A clinical trial for the prevention of acute liver failure (ALF) in patients with acetaminophen induced poisoning is under preparation.

Project PP-099 (myocardial infarction)

The PLED substance mangafodipir has been tested in a smaller national phase IIa study in heart attack patients undergoing angioplasty. The study indicated that PLED therapeutics can reduce reperfusion damage after acute myocardial infarction. No additional studies will be carried out without a partner.

Status in PledPharma's onging projects

^{*} Acute liver failure means that the liver suddenly becomes so badly damaged that it can not function as it should. This is a very serious condition with a risk of death if treatment is not given
